BLOOMFIELD, N. J., SEPT. 4, 1873.

Death of an Esteemed Resident.

In the providence which removes from our midst Mr. Warren S. Baldwin, the town of Bloomfield loses one of her most respected, useful and influential citizens. For a quarter of a century he has constantly, closely, and yet quietly identified himself with the educational, social and political welfare and interests of Bloomfield.

A gentleman of more than ordinary business energy, perseverance, and shrewdness, he was bountifully prospered in the acquirement of this world's goods. Liberal minded and honorable—with a scrupulous regard to probity, he was permitted to do much good with his means. Many a once poor man will say that he aided, encouraged and stimulated him in the virtues of thrift and industry. His fellow citizens, convinced of his business tact and ability, of his moral worth and integrity, have from time to time conferred upon him offices of trust, embracing in the aggregate duties which few men would care to have assumed. In the discharge of these onerous and often intricate duties, he has won from all classes of his fellow citizens an exalted reputation for wise management, sound judgment and integrity. The community in which he moved hardly realized or appreciated the full extent of his public worth and services until he had left them. We would express our heartfelt sympathy and condolence for his stricken family; his colleagues in the School Board of Central Union District; and for the remaining officers of the Old Church, in the deep loss they have sustained.

The funeral obsequies of Mr. Warren S. Baldwin were observed on Tuesday afternoon in the Old Presbyterian Church, of which for forty years the deceased had been a most valued and active member—for over twenty years, we believe, a ruling elder. Nearly every seat in the church was filled. Those who came to pay this tribute to his memory included all classes and ages, from the school children of tender years, to those who had outlived him in measure of days. It was a fitting tribute to his memory. The immediate relatives nearly filled the seats reached by the middle aisle of the church. The address by the Pastor, Rev. Charles E. Knox, was spoken of as being impressive and most appropriate. Rev. Mr. Seymour, the respected pastor of former years, also participated in the services, and Rev. Mr. Friswell made the closing prayer. After the benediction had been pronounced the congregation passed around the face of the departed, after which the procession moved to the Bloomfield Cemetery, in which the remains were consigned to their final resting place.

Bloomfield Library.

There was a large meeting of the Directors of the Bloomfield Library Association held in Mr. Horace Pierson's office on Monday evening. A strong feeling prevails in the directorship favorable to the erection of the library building at once.

We venture to suggest, as an additional incentive to this enterprise, that the ladies of Bloomfield be invited to co-operate with the Library Association. A Ladies' Auxiliary Society could be organized having for its object the furnishing of the whole or a part of the building, or the purchase of books for the library. It occurs to us that the ladies of our town must naturally feel an interest in a project which has for its aim the literary advancement of the community, and that the Association would lose nothing but gain much by the influence and aid which would accrue from such concurrent action.

The precedent is established in our neighboring township, East Orange, and the result seems to be highly satisfactory. The Ladies Library Aid Association, as we learn through the Chronicle, propose holding in a short time, another of those enjoyable promenade concerts, which not only afford pleasant relaxation and amusement, but bring money into the treasury. The funds realized by their last concert is to be invested in books, and the library soon opened to the public.

A Trip to Chicago.

Mr. Theron Moore recently gave an interesting private exhibition at the residence of Mr. Reford, on Midland avenue. It comprised a series of pictures produced by the magic lantern, of Chicago before and after the great fire which devastated that city in the fall of 1871, being photographic views of all the notable buildings. Each stately pile was shown in its original glory, followed, in many cases, by a view of its ruins, and accompanied by explanatory remarks by Mr. Moore. There were also several very fine views of rebuilt Chicago, including some of the finest warehouses, public buildings and churches. It was an exhibition which no doubt would be interesting and instructive to our Sunday and Public schools if an opportunity could be afforded for them to witness it.

The New York papers of Saturday record the death in indigent circumstances of Michael Angelo McFarland, brother of Daniel M. McFarland, slayer of Albert D. Richardson. The deceased, who was once wealthy, beggared himself in the defense of his brother and died on Thursday last of epilepsy, in Bellevue hospital.

The Balloon Voyage.

The Daily Graphic announces that Wednesday, Sept. 10th has been fixed as the date of departure of the big balloon with the intrepid aeronauts Wise and Donaldson. Two other persons whose names have not as yet been announced, are to accompany the expedition, one as navigator and the other as a newspaper representative of the Graphic.

Ten Capitoline Grounds in Brooklyn have been engaged as the immediate place of ascension. The public are to be allowed an opportunity to inspect the monster air-ship between the 6th and 10th instants. Whatever of speculation or uncertainty there may be as to the success of the voyage, there can be no doubt whatever that the exhibition at the aforesaid grounds will be an immense attraction, nor that the Daily Graphic is just now a very popular newspaper.

No event in the scientific world, since the laying of the first Atlantic cable has excited so much of interest and speculation as this contemplated transatlantic voyage through the air.

Since the above was written, the Graphic folk have kindly sent us a circular setting forth substantially the facts just stated, and including a sample of the material of which the monster balloon is composed. It is of heavy muslin, thickly coated on each side with a very pliable varnish.

The Road Board met on Monday to consider objections to the assessments for benefits upon Ridgewood avenue. There were several objections urged, Mr. Parsons, whose property is located on the northern part of the avenue objected to the assessment on the ground that it was arbitrary, illegal and excessive. Mr. G. W. M. M., owning upon that part between Baldwin and Benson streets, urged nearly the same objection. Mr. W. G. Rayner filed an objection on the ground that the grade established was an improper one, and damaging to his property from the fact that it turned the drainage of the street upon his land.

Money matters in Chicago, according to the Tribune of that city, are in a very boyant, cheerful condition. There has never been so large an amount of currency sent into the country by Chicago banks, during the same length of time, as during the last two weeks. The movement of the wheat crop has never been more prompt and simultaneous from all parts of the country, and it is reasonable to expect that the September receipts of grain will be larger than in almost any previous year. One evidence of the unusual promptness in the movement of the crop is that, notwithstanding that they have sent out about $6,000,000 of currency in the last two weeks, their aggregate deposits have not diminished at all.

The Virginia Sentinel, in a discussion of the recent speech of Mr. Davis, says: "We reject and denounce this interference of Mr. Davis in our affairs, as unwarranted and pernicious. We deny his right to speak for the Southern people with whom he was never heartily in accord, in peace or in war, and we repudiate all responsibility for the utterances of this weak, vain and unfortunate old man. We have other things to think of and to do than to discuss, abstractly, what Mr. Davis might have done in 1865, if he had known as much then as he thinks he does now. To our mind he is progressing backwards in learning."

Rev. Stacy W. Hilliard, of the M. E. Church at Perth Amboy, and formerly pastor of the M. E. Church in this place, died on Sunday from an attack of brain fever. One week before he was suddenly taken ill in the pulpit, and slowly grew worse until he died. He was fifty years of age, has been Presiding Elder of several districts, and delegate to the General Conference. The funeral takes place on Thursday. The ministers of the Newark Methodist Preachers' Meeting attend in a body.

Attention is respectfully invited to our advertising columns. Among the new ones will be seen the advertisement of Rev. Mr. Hering, of the Theological Seminary. Now that cool weather and lengthened evenings prevail, we hope that quite a number of the young men will avail themselves of the opportunity afforded to obtain instruction in German. It is easily acquired, and its study, even if pursued to but a limited extent, would prove a pleasant and profitable investment.

The American Agriculturist, with its usual array of useful and interesting matter relating to the farm, garden and household, is received for September.

To-day the quarterly payment of pensions will begin at all the agencies throughout the country, by which about $8,000,000 will be disbursed.

STATE ITEMS.

Thirty-nine locomotives were built and shipped from Paterson last month.

The New Fourth Ward School-house, in Newark, was dedicated on Friday last. President Goble, of the Board of Education delivered a brief address. There were also appropriate remarks by other gentlemen, as well other interesting exercises.

Miss Mary Lee, aged fifty-four, a resident of Madison, of good standing and family, mysteriously disappeared on Saturday night last. She prepared for her departure by placing a $1,000 bond, a bank-book, and some money where they could be seen, and left the house attired in her oldest clothing and without a hat. She had been wandering in her mind for some time past on the subject of religion principally, and it is feared she has committed suicide. A liberal reward is offered for information concerning her whereabouts.

ABOUT TOWN.

Mr. James Hunter is erecting a dwelling house on Park street.

There was a large attendance at the opening of the Public Schools on the 1st inst.

Miss Michell and Mrs. Kneivitt's English and French School will re-open Sept. 8th.

The cross walks and curbing at Bloomfield Centre are being put down in a thorough manner.

Jas. C. Beach, Esq., was thrown from his carriage on Saturday last, through the breaking of the harness, and had his wrist severely sprained.

The Bellevue Avenue School for Young Ladies opened on Monday. Miss Shibley, who has been absent for several weeks upon a vacation trip, returned on Tuesday.

The Montclair Herald is out for September. Its pages are attractive and interesting. Messrs. Clark & Sturges evidently mean business, and we wish them every success.

General Wright, of Orange, has received the contract for grading Glenwood Avenue, under the supervision of the Watessing Land and Improvement company. The work is to be commenced at once.

The ladies of the Bloomfield Orphan Asylum Society will hold their Annual Meeting in connection with a picnic for the children of the Newark Orphan Asylum at Weaver's Grove, Wednesday, Sept. 10th. Interesting exercises are expected. There will be addresses, reading of reports and singing by the children.

A Montclair gentleman thinks that the $23,000 purchase money for the old turnpike should be assessed upon the townships, and not simply upon the property along the avenue. Also, that if the Commissioners would consult the rolls of the township assessors, and graduate the apportionment of benefits, in some measure, therefrom, it would conduce to a more equitable assessment than could otherwise be obtained.

Thomas Fancett, aged nine years, met with a serious accident on Monday afternoon at W. J. Madison's abattoir on Thomas street. A large drove of cattle was being driven into the yard and in attempting to get out of their way the lad was knocked down and trampled upon by one of them, sustaining a fracture of the thigh bone. He was carried to his home and attended by Doctors W. H. White and C. H. Bailey.

Oysters are said to be good in the R months. Yesterday we dispatched an interviewer to Archdeacon's Restaurant to see about it. Result:

"Oysters good in September?"
"They're ready to supply them to them to the people of Bloomfield?"
"We're."
"Nuff said."

A level-headed Montclair man, at a recent gas meeting in that town introduced a resolution to have gas mains laid on both sides of Bloomfield avenue. It was carried, and we see the pipes are being thus laid. This is as it should be, and the gentleman referred to deserves a vote of thanks. It will prevent the nuisance of tearing up a Telford pavement whenever it is desirable to introduce service pipes into a dwelling or store.

A fellow with large acquisitiveness and an elastic conscience helped himself to a Montclair man's umbrella this morning as the 7:30 train from New York reached Bloomfield. While he was about it, he thought he might as well have his coat also, and so took both from the rack and vanished. The owner, fortunately, was soon aware of his loss, and you should have seen him go for that man! He overtook the thief in the platform, collared him and in choleric mood made him disgorge.

We have been requested to call the attention of the Town Committee to the condition of the street known as Bay Lane. No work having been done upon it this season, the excessive rains have washed the road bed to an extent which renders travel insecure and difficult. It is a much used thoroughfare, being the only direct way of reaching Montclair from the northern portion of our township. An expenditure of but a few dollars now would put it in passable order, while if its repair is neglected until Spring a much greater expense will be required to make good the damage which must ensue from the heavy fall rains.

A Unsafe Promenade.

On Friday afternoon last, as the 3:30 train from Montclair was approaching Ridgewood station, a young girl was observed by the engineer on the trestle work upon which the railroad crosses the pond near Mat's Rolling Mill. The speed of the train could not be arrested and there seemed to be no escape from a shocking casualty; but as the engine was upon her the girl and sufficient nerve to lower herself below the track and cling to the timbers while the train passed over. We are informed that the same young lady met with a somewhat similar though not so narrow an escape the day before, upon the bridge just above Washington avenue. The Montclair Herald also tells of a lady who was on the track recently near Roseville, and seemed to waver between the dilemma of death on the rails or a soiled dress in the ditch at the side of the track. The railroad is not the safest promenade in the world.

Pistol Accident in Montclair.

EDITOR BLOOMFIELD RECORD:

A very sad and startling accident occurred in our town last Saturday morning, and as the case will probably reach your ear and may find a place in your paper in an exaggerated or incorrect form, I think it proper to give the facts, having been on the spot soon after the occurrence.

As Mrs. Crutenden, wife of Geo. Crutenden, Jr., who does business in New York, was sitting in her chamber some eight feet from the window, she received a pistol ball in her left cheek. The ball had passed through a slot of the blind, splitting off a portion which fell to the ground. An alarm was immediately given and a man dispatched for Doctor Love, who soon made his appearance, Mrs. C. in the meantime being assisted by neighbors, who applied water to the wound, which was bleeding slightly, and appeared very insignificant. She complained of no pain, but suffered somewhat from nervous excitement.

The Doctor probed the wound to the extent of two inches, much to the surprise of those who saw the operation, but without finding the ball. This operation was attended, happily, with no suffering, the parts being paralyzed to such an extent as to render them insensible.

The Doctor finally left and returning in the afternoon with other instruments made another attempt to extract the ball, but without success. Sunday morning he called again, determined if possible to find it. He put the patient under the influence of chloroform, and after an hour or more of faithful and most patient efforts, gave the matter up, and so the case now stands. The most favorable results are hoped for and anticipated, but it is an ugly wound.

The shot was discharged by a lad some fifteen years of age living in the neighborhood, from a powerful revolver, the ball having traveled a distance of four hundred and twenty-five feet. Trees intervening had prevented the boy from seeing the house, and even if he had seen it, it is doubtful if he would have imagined the pistol could have thrown a ball so far, if indeed he knew anything about the matter at all. The blame can hardly attach to the inexperienced boy. The serious mistake, in this case, is in putting such deadly weapons in boys' hands as playthings.

It may be added that while the minds of friends have been agitated with grave apprehensions as to the result, Mrs. C. has borne the cruel infliction with truly heroic fortitude, making no complaint.

Protect Your Buildings!

WHICH MAY BE DONE WITH LESS THAN QUARTER THE USUAL EXPENSE BY THE USE OF Gilne's Patent Slate Roofing Paint.
A roof may be covered with a very cheap shingle, and by the application of this slate is made to last from 25 to 30 years. Old roofs can be gutted and coated and made to look much better and last longer than new shingles without the slate, for

One Third the Cost of Re-shingling.

The cost of slating new shingles is only about the cost of simply laying them, and the slate is very poor against sparks and fire particularly adapted, as it will not corrode in the most exposed places. Roofs covered with Tar Shingling felt can be made water-tight at a small expense.

Make the same Tariff that they do for Slated Roofs.

For tin and iron it has no equal, as it expands by heat and contracts by cold, and never cracks or scales. For century houses it is particularly adapted, as it will not corrode in the most exposed places. Roofs covered with Tar Shingling felt can be made water-tight at a small expense.

The Slate or Paint is Extremely Cheap!

Two gallons will cover a hundred square feet of Shingle roof, or over four hundred of Tin or Iron. Price of the Slate ready for use is 50 cents per gallon. $16 per half barrel, or $30 per barrel of about 40 gallons, with a liberal discount to the trade. We furnish and apply the material for $2.50 per 100 square feet in the vicinity of New York.

We use no Tar in this Composition therefore it does not affect the water from the roof, if turned off for the first, once or two rains.

The Paint has a very heavy body, but is easily applied with a four or six inch brush. On old rotten shingles it fills up the holes and pores, hardens them and gives a new and substantial roof that will last for years. On curled or warped shingles, it fills up the holes in tin or setting roofs, and stops the leaks. New coat is equal to ten of ordinary paint.

The color of the slate when first applied is of a dark purple, and in about a month it changes to a light uniform slate color.

And is, to all intents and Purposes, Slate.

It is a slow dryer, but rain will not affect it in the least in one hour after it is put on.
